ARTILLERY DUEL AGAIN ON THE WESTERN FRONT

Infantry Doing Little Around Flanders--Allies Gaining.

Russia Still Winning In the Eastern War Theatre.

(By Times Special Cable.)
London, Jan. 4.—Utterly irreconcilable are the claims of the contending armies in the east. In the west the unprecedented wet weather precludes operations, which could give decided advantage to one side or the other.

The activities of the Turks in the Caucasus seem to be assuming an increasing importance, judging from the attention the Petrograd official communications are devoting to this region. Although not admitting that the Turks have been victorious, it is conceded that they are fighting with great valor and stubbornness in the vicinity of the fortifying town of Kars. The Turks claim to have taken this position. Russia, however, does not admit this, and says the Turks have suffered enormous losses.

Comparing the Turkish and the Russian statements, it would seem that the Turks, at the present time, are making some headway, although both sides are losing heavily in killed, wounded and prisoners, as their troops floundered and fought through the deep snow and in the bitter cold of these high latitudes.

ALLIES ON THE YSER IN BEST SHAPE YET

Germans Losing Ground, and Losing It for Good.

Life in the Trenches Is Too Horrible to Withstand.

(By Times Special Cable.)
London, Jan. 4.—The Daily News correspondent telegraphs from north France:
"Again violent storms burst over the dreary desolate area of the Somme yesterday. On both sides the fighting was a half-hearted, amphibious war. Men in mudshoes, mud-boots, mud-clothes, mud-logged guns, mud-choked transports, and spirits drowned in the drench."

"Sixty German prisoners, brought in last night were in a deplorable state of exhaustion. They had been such dependent men in my life. They swallowed the gun served with the same enthusiasm as their wives. They said they had been living in mudholes hardly fit to eat, and that they had to turn back and turn about."

SITUATION BEST YET.
London, Jan. 4.—The Times' correspondent in Northern France telegraphs:

"The fighting on the Yser again has resolved itself in the last day or two mainly into artillery duels. The Germans are holding their positions at Neuve Chapelle, St. Georges and to the south of Dixmude, and have been expressing their discontent and unwillingness to fight.

"The situation on the Yser is better than it has been ever since the battle of Neuve Chapelle, but the Germans are progressing excellently at St. Georges. At Dixmude the Germans are held off at the same point, just to the south of Dixmude, and there hold on to this bridge head will become more and more difficult."

"The French have been fighting desperately toward the sea under the driving rain, fighting for what little time they have, returning from that part of the front never varies. There is always the same sort of atmosphere of despair and gloom, the changes under withering fire of sieges lead to German supporting points in the rear, and the French are held by the mud. The progress made is only by step, but if gradual it is actual."

"Frozen water flows out of the mud holes. The progress way to thaw out pipes is with hot water or hot cloths.

UNDERGROUND LIFE.
New York, Jan. 4.—A London cable to the Herald says:

"The front, which has just returned from the front, tells that it is quite safe now to one's self in the trenches. Which now extend from the north of

BOUNDARY SHIFT

Western Canada Hears Rumors of Change of Line.

(By Times Special Wire.)
Winnipeg, Jan. 4.—The Free Press this morning says it received several inquiries from Saskatchewan readers regarding rumors of proposed changes in the boundary between the provinces and the United States. One inquiry says the proposed changes have been the subject of much talk among the people here, and the opinion of the people here in Saskatchewan, and the opinion of the Canadian public was that a twenty-mile strip from the border of the Province of British Columbia to the coast of the Pacific would be given to the United States, which states that the boundary has been moved twenty-five miles to the north from the Pacific to the great lakes.

This officer declares that there has been nothing like this in Canada.

He adds that he and his advisers are necessary in the semi-autonomous life at the front.

The man is now recognized, and guides regularly conduct troops from one part of the line to another entrencheds in the rear.

London, Jan. 4.—The official communication issued to-day by the German Army Head-Quarters.

"In the western theatre of the war, except for a more or less heavy artillery combat along the front, it was "Only near Thann (Alsace) did the enemy show great activity. After an interval of quiet, the enemy has now returned to the village of Steinbach, which we stubbornly held.

"The enemy has been mentioned in our reports during the last few days. The heights were taken during the night, and the heights held.

heights, and their hold there is quite counter-balanced by the secure position which the Germans have won in the village of Steinbach, just to the south of Dixmude, and there hold on to this bridge head will become more and more difficult."

A GIFT OF A SOUL

During the past few days, Mme. de Vignes, forewarned by Davidoff, had seen the future, which had apparently been her fate, and had failed to live it. The certainty that Pierre Laurier lived, the bondsmen with which he had been associated with the painter, loved Juliette, and loved only her, had given the mother some moments of relief, but the misfortunes which overwhelmed her, with everything to bear from her son, and overwhelming to see Juliette once more restored to health and tranquillity was a source of infinite comfort. She was very sorry to compare to the affliction caused by her daughter's death, but Davidoff had been welcomed as a savior. Communicating his news to Juliette, he had told her that he planned to find a home of his own in his mind which had found fertile soil by degrees, and which had blossomed, while she had thought for Wright, had become convinced that Pierre was living.

"On dit" of Davidoff had been seized on with avidity by this young boy. Why should he have been so interested in the waves, as was said, and taken on board a passing trading vessel? From Coteau, he had been welcomed as a savior. Communicating his news to Juliette, he had told her that he planned to find a home of his own in his mind which had found fertile soil by degrees, and which had blossomed, while she had thought for Wright, had become convinced that Pierre was living.

Each day Davidoff, pursuing the same course gave account of the results of the investigations he told her he was making. And each day he saw himself becoming more and more attached to life. It was a delightful spectacle to the doctor to see him improve daily. Juliette, however, but with fear and trembling, and at times she would stop short suddenly on the road, about to make a dash back to Davidoff's door, accompanied by the man whose presence was so predominant in her thoughts. What if the reports they had heard should prove untrue, and Pierre had been killed?

Her heart was tortured by these conflicting hopes and fears. It had been reached away in an instant this young man, so full of life and vigor. She resolved to make a dash back to Davidoff's door, accompanied by the man whose presence was so predominant in her thoughts. What if the reports they had heard should prove untrue, and Pierre had been killed?

"I died yesterday with some people who met me at the station. They said I had died. We may expect to see him make his appearance one of these days."

He looked fixedly at the doctor for a moment, and then said:

"Why do you not tell me everything? Are you afraid of the effect of my news upon you? You are wrong. I am certain now that he lives. I saw him last night in my dreams. He was pale, but smiling a sacred picture. His face was so sad, and from time to time he uttered a convocation that he was thinking of me. I wanted to cry out, 'Pierre, come back; we are waiting for you, and it would make us happy to welcome you.' But most of all I wanted to say, 'Come back; we are waiting for you, and it would make us happy to welcome you.' But most of all I wanted to say, 'Come back; we are waiting for you, and it would make us happy to welcome you.' But most of all I wanted to say, 'Come back; we are waiting for you, and it would make us happy to welcome you.' But most of all I wanted to say, 'Come back; we are waiting for you, and it would make us happy to welcome you.'

"I am coming," and then I awoke, trembling and exhausted. He is dead, he is dead."

"Can you describe to me the church of which you speak?" asked Davidoff.

"Yes," returned Juliette. "It was facing a square of red sandstone, surrounded by a sloping roof of brick. The walls were whitewashed, and the interior was hung with bunches of decoration—a few woven benches, a plain chair, and a very simple altar."

"What is the picture Pierre was painting?" asked the doctor. "Did you see it?"

"It was an open grave in it—from which a dead man was rising. I saw in this an omen."

Davidoff stood silent in silence, overwhelmed by this extraordinary revelation; it was evident who, by the power of this secret, had known of the death of Juliette. The church at Torrevecchio, and the picture of the Resurrection; but the noise of the waves striking the shore in which Pierre was staying, how it exalts this!"

He remained silent, and then said, "I can tell you nothing more, no further information. But his attitude, his words, all had announced to me that he had known of the secret."

He left the room, and went to the last window of the chamber, and pointed to the last window of the chamber.

Pierre had been violently ill. He pressed his friend's arm with force, and pointed to the last window of the chamber.

"I am more uneasy than I can tell you."

GERMAN CLAIM FOR A PLACE IN THE SUN

Rev. Dr. Laker Preached a Strong Sermon at Zion Tabernacle.

ONE MAN POWER

The Kaiser Will Fall as Did the Mailed Fist Man of the Past.

With wonderful strength and power, Rev. Dr. Laker, of Zion Tabernacle, last evening discussed Kaiser Wilhelm's claim "for a place in the sun." This phase of the dream cured for world power, as thoroughly gone into and the fullness of all power, was in clear, ringing tones. As a true Methodist, Dr. Laker can speak with tongue of the righteous having been brought by the German; specially did he dwell on the violation of little Belgium, and while no said he was not in favor of war, it was with great pleasure that he was able to say that righteousness was on the side of the allies.

Going back to the birth of Christ, he drew a contrast between the child born in the manger and the ruler Nero. "The child had the power to hold unbounded away over all mankind." That was the beginning of the statement of fame and power; on the other a being, though only of birth, with a mighty strength, riven his unbinding laws, ruthlessly strength, leaving blood and death wherever he went, preferring death to life. "It seems to a scorpion—a symbol that has come down the ages, the rocking spear and sting, the scorpion's tail, hollow rain and death. But he had a rival in the Christ; His incarnation was an invasion of the world, and was also a declaration of war, though there was no trumpet-march. One man—indeed, the other mailed fist, we call it—was a Roman. The Kaiser was a Prussian. An individual can ever have world power, except One—the Christ.

White Coat, Pretty And Very Useful

A black and white photograph of a man in historical attire, possibly a general or soldier, standing in a dark, outdoor setting. He is wearing a tall hat and a dark coat, and appears to be looking towards the camera or slightly to the side.

A white coat cut out on the new "flare" lines, that is, with a decidedly flaring skirt, was one of the attraction models at the National Suit and Cloth Association's exhibition in the National Suit and Cloth Association's hall in Toronto, O.

"It's a practical little coat as well as attractive. It is simple enough to be worn as a top coat in the day time, but equally suitable to slip over a party dress in the evening."

BARONWIMBORNE

Sporting Peer is Lord Lieutenant of Ireland.

London, Jan. 3.—Baron Wimborne, who has sumptuously invited the United States' British polo team which vanquished the American team, has been appointed Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, to succeed Lord Aberdeen.

The Baron will take office February 1st.

To a deputation which asked him to resign his position, Lord Aberdeen yesterday replied that this was impossible.

"Germany in this war was not, in my opinion, in a place, but with me, as far as I am concerned, I have moved across the Belgian border, sarcastically remarking that Germany had not been beaten."

"It is to your advantage or interest just a scrap of paper, torn by the wind, to be drawn up as prisoners."

France's honor, however, had been violated.

Had she violated her pledge,

the whole history of the world would have been changed.

BOATS AND A CREW LOST.

London, Jan. 3.—The Norwegian crew of a boat which had been lost at sea for four days, were found safe and sound in Brazil, with a load of cement recovered.

Paul Hansen, the skipper, had picked her up in a disabled condition.

Seven of the crew were severely injured, but were now recovering.

The Norwegian steamer Hjorung, from Sweden, founded yesterday six miles north of Rockall Island, 100 miles west of the Hebrides, her crew were rescued.

IMPORTANT FACTS IN THE FUR STORY

Cravat and Barrel Muff
of Fitch

FURS are here in great evidence and whether you purchase new models or have your furs of other years remodeled, you will listen with interest to the facts in the story. They are of importance in the light that they throw on combinations, kinds and shapes of fur, and because they reflect the changes in style that inevitably swing around with the seasons.

There is a great emphasis placed on monkey fur for this year; kolinsky, fitch (both Russian and Austrian), ermine, caracul and the old reliable sealskin are to be in popular forms. Combinations of these furs will be shown, and when there is a shortage in one kind, the substitution of fabrics with pieces of fur will complete scarfs and muffs to a practical and fashionable glory.

Notice the high collar on the kolinsky set. The scarf has the wired military collar at the back that gives a smart finish to the set. The muff is soft and large and has the pelts arranged in a line that contributes to the beauty of the model.

Fitch is the fur that forms the set with a close cross trimming of sealskin, and a barrel muff. The tails are grouped at the side, and the muff has its bands of color arranged in a more decorative way. The fitch is of the light color, and therefore the markings are more conspicuous and beautiful.

Black-and-white in its fashionable expression, now appears in ermine and monkey fur. The long straight stole has a fringe of fur and the muff has a ruffle at each end, with black fur and ermine heads as a decoration. This is undoubtedly the latest. Why cannot you have your ermine set trimmed with monkey and bring it up to the fashionable pitch of beauty?

Black-and-white in its collar and long muff is shown in another set that has a gold rose at the collar. The gloss of the fur and the softness of the hair are the attractive points of this set.

Pointed fox is combined with seal in the last of these facts in the fur story. The scarf is large, with fox at the upper line and a ruffle of sealskin at the lower. The muff has a puffing of seal and fox in the center. The sealskin can be replaced with velvet if you are not particular at home.

Accept these hints in the fur case. They are the right ones and will lead you to the correct conclusion regarding fur sets for cold days.

REV. FORNERET'S ANNIVERSARY AT ALL SAINTS'

The Archdeacon Enters Upon His Thirtieth Year As Rector.

A NEW MINISTER

Rev. C. E. Riley Begins at St. Luke's—Prof. Johnston's Last Sunday At First.

The twenty-eighth anniversary of the induction of Rev. Archdeacon Forneret as rector of an Anglican church was celebrated in the church yesterday, and his services were the or- dinary of the day. In the evening Rev. T. V. Watkinson, of St. Stephen's Church, Toronto, entered the pulpit and spoke words of welcome. The speaker explained that he had been present at the first Sunday of the new year, and had been as a day of preparation for the special con- clusion of the war. It was stated that at the present time, owing to the strain and stress that was upon the Empire, the King had requested that such a day as yesterday be observed.

"In God we trust," he said. "We feel that God has been very good to the British Empire. We are the heirs of the past, and although our history shows that mistakes have been made, we believe that we are deriving now the benefit of the work of those who have gone before. Some day we shall thank God for it. He has given us His people, but we have only to look backward to find that times have never been so bad. We have been struck upon the Empire, and that through the goodness of God we have come through it unscathed."

He then took up the book that a man need not wait every occasion, is a wonderful source in these present times. He said that it is to the comfort that we need. But to-day we are asking God for His guidance and guidance in these trou- bles. He is the One to whom we should look. We must not forget the future, and that is special.

The speaker then shared the heritage of the past, but to offset this, we placed before a nation where we are trying to make the world better, have been born, but never known in the history of the world. The deliver of the world is to help the world to help the reputation of having a moral government and liberty. That is of the greatest importance when despotism over us. We see with many and innocent women and children were captured and held captive. They have lost their love of liberty when held by the tyrant, but they are won back by the speaker, introducing a few dol- lars, then they demand to know why their liberty is assured. The speaker then turned against the traditions of England and honor. The speaker then turned against the traditions of Christianity in the great American Republic, but their actions are not that of a country which is to be a leader to the world for the future, for we are nation leaders. Look not from the selfish standpoint, but from a spiritual one.

The speaker also referred to the number of years that Archdeacon Forneret has been in charge of the church, and stated that no honor could be greater than a record of such long service as that of the Archdeacon, in All Saints' Church.

ST. LUKE'S NEW RECTOR.

Yesterday morning Rev. C. E. Riley

B.A., the new pastor at St. Luke's Anglican Church, took charge of the church from the late Rev. E. N. R. Burns, who for the first time to his knowledge, turned over the care of the church to another. The church turned out to welcome him, and to extend to him a hearty welcome on behalf of all.

Mr. Riley is a native of Canada.

HINDENBURG ALTERS PLAN FOR AUSTRIANS

Their Rout Has Caused Him to Diver Big Force to Southward to Aid.

WARSAW SAFE

All Danger Now Gone—Aful Total of Losses by Germans in East.

London, Jan. 2.—The thorough rout of the Austrians in the eastern part of Galicia and the increasing successes of the Russians on the front have apparently caused the Germans to have a change of plan in their operations. It is reported from Petrograd that German troops have been sent south to relieve the hard-pushed Austrian army, and that a Poland Marshal von Hindenburg is attempting frantically to create a diversion in the west which will compel the Grand Duke Nicholas, to turn his attention again to the defense of Warsaw.

Another message from Petrograd says that Warsaw is no longer in the slightest danger, since the Russians have crossed to the left bank of the Zara, having to the lodges of the Germans. It is estimated that the right bank. It is estimated that the Germans now have 27,000 men in the field, and that four hundred thousand Germans and Austrians have been captured or driven into Russia since the beginning of the Polish campaign. The Russians have captured 22,570 to 23,000 men and 45 machine guns during the last fortnight, according to official announcement given out at Petrograd.

GRAND DUKE'S STATEMENT

A Russian official said today that Saturday's date merely means days of operations in the Warsaw region that the successful repulse of the Germans had taken place. The Russians have captured the town of Lopoum, in spite of the enemy's heavy artillery and bombs. In addition to the battle described above, a battle has taken place in which the Germans conquered some of the Polish districts, but they were beaten, but them all on the same day. The Russians made a counter-attack, securing several hundred prisoners.

Fighting against the Austrians in Galicia is stated to be that of a guerrilla war, with the number of prisoners taken in one place where the Austrians had been taken to Warsaw, Kielce and Plock, but everywhere they have been. Men with heavy loads are captured. Atrocities will be committed, but may be construed as an effort to gain time, pending new operations.

The Russian occupation of Kremensk, Szczecin, Silesia and Radom, in Bialowina, or the "Polish" frontier, but is within a hundred miles of Warsaw. The railway line connecting Warsaw with Western Galicia and Hungary, and the Austrian retreat says the statement, "before the drive of our troops have taken the character of a great retreat."

The Austrian and German armies are believed to be still intact, but are held to the northeast of Warsaw. The Germans are apparently defending the roads to the north and the south, and the approaches from the northeast and east. Lopoum is only fifty miles west of Gradow, and a battle has taken place there on Thursday last. It is supposed that they are now much nearer to Silesian gateway.

TO ATTACK NOVO-GEOGRAPHICO

A few agency despatch from Petrograd quotes despatches from the front to the effect that the Germans had been defeated in the battle along the line through Sochaczew, Skierkiwo, Rawa and Opoczno. The Germans have again renewed their attacks on Warsaw, and have turned to the south and west of Warsaw and have advanced to the front of the city, but have been repelled. The Germans are now operating in the south near Grodno, and in the general direction of Radom and Ivangorod, but have been beaten around Grodno, and are being forced to withdraw.

Military news express the opinion of the Germans that the forces in the front of Warsaw, which capture was not made, are still too weak to sustain a frontal attack. The Germans are still in the rear of Warsaw, and Ivangorod, and the Germans in order to keep Warsaw, Poland and possess two places. It is also reported that the Germans are still 60 or 70 miles from Warsaw, and that the day the probability of taking these places is lessened.

TRYING TO CROSS VISTULA.

A correspondent of the Daily Mail at Warsaw, the following, the following to-night: "Two fresh developments have appeared in the German war of aggression. First, the Prussian and Bavarian troops to aid the Austrians, who have been ordered to attack to hold their ground along the Vistula." A rumor to the effect that the Germans are also making efforts to cross the Vistula, and that with the assistance of their east Prussian army, under Gen. Francke, the Germans will be able to do this direction.

"The Russians have struck strong at Warsaw, which done splendid work and have thus far prevented the Germans from establishing a bridgehead across the Vistula at the junction of the Brava and the Vistula. So however was the enemy that he sent up a large variety of boats that they sent up aeroplanes to try and drop bombs and sink them. But the Vistula is so wide that the risk of damage is great. It came within range of the guns of one of the vessels, which promptly brought it down."

"Along the Brava, the river has shown signs of activity, and many have been compelled to leave himself by the activity of the Russians. Across the Brava, the distance is about from 40 to 40 yards wide, there is constant exchange of all kinds of fire, and last night there was a great deal of falling, and the Russian trenches, give rise to the rumor that the redbounding 16th division, which have been put into use for the Germans, have been put into action.

THE GERMAN REPORT.

The German official statement to-day is an important Russian point of support on the Brava River, "west of Warsaw," but it is not clear what is meant by this. Major von Hindenburg's corps, and a thousand Russians made prisoners. Three nights ago, the Germans attacked, but failed to regain the position. The German statement describes the success of the Poles at Jaworow as "pure invention," declaring that all these attacks in the direction of Warsaw have been repelled. On Saturday, the following has been received by wire from the German Foreign Bureau in Berlin:

"The situation in the east is considered by the Germans to be favorable. They believe the Russian counter offensive in Galicia has been entirely shattered. At the time, at least, the Russians in the east have so frequently brought surprises that predictions as to the future are difficult to make. The small amount of space given by all the newspapers to the western war theatre appears to indicate that the Germans are not yet in a position to consider the central point of interest is in Poland and that the struggle in the west has settled down into a long drawn-out conflict."

VIENNA CLAIMS SUCCESS.

The Vienna statement claims attempted to penetrate the lines of the allies in Belgium and Northern France to reach Calais. At each attempt they have been baffled by the unfriendly opposition of the British, French and Belgian forces. The upper picture shows a central square in Calais. At the side is the monument erected to the Bourgeois of Calais, who offered themselves as hostages to King Edward III of England in 1347, when the city was captured after a siege of eleven months.

VIENNA BATTLE IS ENDED.

A Petrograd despatch to Reuters says:

"The opinion of experts here is that the battle of the Somme is over, the 16th division of engineers on the banks of the Iura, Rawa, Pilica and Rida is popularly known as the 'Mud Army' and they have not yet advanced to the front. The Germans are now in full retreat, and the Austrians have captured a staff officer and 500 men."

The Petrograd correspondent of the Paris Times records a statement that Russia has summoned all her reserves. On the contrary, according to reports, the northern journey the correspondent passed enormous contingents of troops from the south, and the south, and full of confidence. Nowhere did he see a trace of confusion or disorganization.

TWO VIEWS OF CALAIS, WHICH THE KAISER HOPED TO USE AS BASE OF ATTACK ON ENGLAND

Three times have the German army attempted to penetrate the lines of the allies in Belgium and Northern France to reach Calais. At each attempt they have been baffled by the unfriendly opposition of the British, French and Belgian forces. The upper picture shows a central square in Calais. At the side is the monument erected to the Bourgeois of Calais, who offered themselves as hostages to King Edward III of England in 1347, when the city was captured after a siege of eleven months.

FRENCH SWARMING IN UPON ALSACE PROVINCE

Elsewhere Allies Made a Good Many Small Gains.

Paris, Jan. 2.—The operations in Alsace have received their greatest amount of attention in the French War Office communiques issued to-day. Second in importance is the administration of the allies and continuing military operations. This announcement appears in the afternoon statement, where it is set forth that the incessant raids of the past few days have been responsible for the slackening of the aggressive tactics of the Germans in the last three weeks.

In Alsace the French are close to Altkirch that they bombarded a railway train in the station at that town. French guns have also destroyed the railway between Flavigny and Karlsruhe, southwest of Altkirch. The capture of the line would give the Allies a great advantage in their operations in upper Alsace, as it would virtually cut the Germans off from the entire region south of a line between Belfort and Bussolengo, Switzerland.

WILL LEAVE END OF NEXT MONTH

Second Contingent to Wait Till First Advances.

500 to Go to Reinforce Princess Patricia's.

Ottawa, Jan. 2.—That the Canadian contingent will not leave the Dominion in January is now practically a certainty. The Militia Department will make no statement as to the probable date of sailing, but a semi-official source puts it at about the end of February. All that is definite now is that the men will be on the strength of the third contingent when the first contingent has gone from Brest. Meanwhile, however, recruiting for the third contingent will go on, and it is expected that the appointment of a commanding officer will be made shortly. The country will be made known in the course of a few weeks.

R. G. DUN & CO'S ANNUAL REVIEW.

After passing through July and December, through nearly every possible experience of adversity, except that of complete collapse, we emerged from the year in the United States standing above depression and confronting the future with new confidence, with clear and definite purpose.

In the St. Louis market, iron and steel—Accumulating his domestic and world-wide preventive activities toward American steel, oil companies, etc.

New York, Jan. 4.—Our railroads are the leaders. Of the industrial community, the Standard Oil Company, Standard and Bethlehem as the most important, and the railroads,
Standard, Illinois, Pacific, and Missouri Pacific, are the most active for our pull. Self-control and self-reliance are the hallmarks of our success.

The outlook for 1915 is unquestionably becoming more hopeful.

It seems impossible to believe that the war will last another twelve months.

We still think it will be ended in the spring or summer.
